Rep. Dixon Named Legislator of the Year By Missouri Police Chiefs' Association

Jefferson City – For his efforts in crafting legislation beneficial to law enforcement efforts in the State of Missouri, Representative Bob Dixon, R-Springfield, recently was named the Missouri Police Chiefs' Association Legislator of the Year.

“Representative Dixon has accomplished a legislative victory for local law enforcement that has never been done before by obtaining state general revenue to be used directly for local law enforcement’s ongoing battle against Cyber Crime” said Chief Mike Wiegand, President of the Missouri Police Chiefs' Association. “Due to Representative Dixon’s hard work, criminals that seek to prey upon Missouri’s children and citizens will have better funded law enforcement to police the cyber world. This is a clear message sent by Rep. Dixon and other legislators to cyber criminals - beware that law enforcement’s finest minds will be hunting them.”

Representative Dixon was presented this award before a large gathering of police chiefs from across the state of Missouri during their monthly meeting in Jefferson City, MO

“I am proud of what we have been able to accomplish to help law enforcement in Missouri and it is a real honor to be recognized for my efforts,” said Rep. Dixon. “It has been my goal as a legislator to work with our law enforcement community in order to ensure they are given the tools they need to be effective. I am glad I have been able to play a role in assisting them in their efforts to keep Missourians safe.”
